Speakers

Chris Howick, Product Regulation Manager INOVYN ChlorVinyls

Silvia Segna, REACH Executive Chemical Industries Association

Silvia is responsible for leading the Association's policy work on REACH and biocides legislation. Part of her work is also to provide advice and guidance to member companies on legislative compliance. Silvia holds a Master's Degree in Materials Engineering from the University of Trento (Italy). Previous experience includes the position of Technical and Regulatory Affairs manager in the engineering plastics business unit of a large polyamide manufacturer, where she was responsible for managing the technical customer service and ensuring products' compliance with technical standards as well as chemicals management legislation applicable in different sectors such as automotive, electric/electronic, food contact.

Roger Van der Linden, Product Stewardship Borealis

Roger Van der Linden graduated with a Ph.D in Science from the State University of Ghent, Belgium in 1974. In his professional career he has been working for companies in the polymer industry like Exxon, Raychem, Mobil, Neste and Borealis in a variety of technical and managerial functions.

For the last few years he has been the Group Manager for Product Stewardship in Borealis. Moreover, since 2004 he is leading a team to implement the REACH and CLP legislation. Roger is also active in a number of associations at the national and European level, like CEFIC and PlasticsEurope in the field of environment and producer responsibility.

Due to his practical experience in implementing REACH and CLP he has been a presenter and chairman at a variety of international conferences and workshops on these topics.

Steve Quinn, Product and Market Development Manager West and Senior

Stephen Quinn has worked in the polymer industry for 30 years, specialising in Polymer Additives with particular focus on the foaming of plastics. Stephen is employed as Product and Marketing Manager for West and Senior Limited and is also the companies EMEA Leader for REACH related matters.

Stephen resides as Chairperson for a Technical Committee consisting of fifty multi-national companies examining the impact of REACH upon the foaming industry and also sits as a member within a UK Consortium of leading industrial sectors examining the influence of REACH upon the broader UK and European manufacturing infrastructure. Stephen has presented case study experience to the UK Chemicals Stakeholder Forum, a UK Government run collective evaluating chemical regulatory controls and has also been in direct discussion with representatives of the European Commission and ECHA in relation to REACH.

Dr Sandra Meijer, Director of Business Development The REACH Centre

An Environmental Chemist by training, Sandra joined The REACH Centre 7 years ago. In her current role as Director of Business Development, Sandra takes the lead on managing and developing The REACH Centre's Regulatory Services. In particular, Sandra has been instrumental in recent years in developing the Chemtrac suite of chemicals management tools for industry. As a recognised expert on REACH and chemicals management, Sandra delivers bespoke REACH training for industry, and undertakes REACH audits. Additionally, Sandra has worked extensively with multinationals and trade associations in the area of Product Stewardship
